Test your Geoscience Knowledge in the EAGE Geo-Quiz

The European Association of Geoscientists and Engineers (EAGE) is a global professional association, for geoscientists and engineers with more than 19,000 members worldwide. We provide a global network of commercial and academic professionals to all members. EAGE includes a global student and young professional community, each with their own extended programmes.

Students are invited to sign-up for the regional EAGE Geo-Quiz, organized during the 16th International Congress of the Brazilian Geophysical Society and EXPOGEF. You can expect multiple choice questions that are related to different geoscience fields. Register with a team of three students sending the names of the three members to americas@eage.org before 7th August 2019. The winning team will receive travel grants to the EAGE Annual 2020.
